The difficulties besetting District Attorney Gilbert in trying to convict the rischer on purely circumstantial evidence adduced from the family of the prisoner were presented in quick succession. His were presented in quick succession. His position as prosecuting officer of this county, prosecuting a second cousin by marriage, at the best was a hard one, but was peculiarly so under the existing circumstances.

This was a fact of which the District Attorney was ignorant, and the witness was questioned closely about it, but stuck to the story.

the witness stand appeared successively Mrs. Mary E. Adyn, mother of the prisoner, followed by her husband, Frank P. Allyn, and the last witness was Carl Allyn, another son. All gave strong testing for the prisoner; in fact, the father laid a good foundation for an alibi for Mrs. Mary E. I can assure you that the feeling mated to-day the collections for the Culkin, chief clerk of the court. The resignation, which is the outcome of charges made by the Board of Justices from the national lottery, which indicates that the lottery is to be established.

Many calculate that the expenditures will not fall short of $40,000,000, the increase a number of civil employees and an exception to the jurisdiction. Mr.

> GENTLEMEN: During the three and one half years that I have been clerk of this court I have faithfully accounted, at the time designated by law, to the City Chamberlain for every dollar of the moneys, reasonably amounting in the aggregate to $150,000, that came into my hands as clerk.

Charles W. Culkin, who is Tammany leader of the new Fifth Assembly district, was arrested on March 23 on a charge of grand larceny of $1,955, the amount of fines collected by the court between March 5 and 22. This was after he had failed to account to the Grand Jury for the money. This complaint was dismissed by Magistrate Crane in the Tombs court on the ground that the law did not require an accounting to the City Chamberlain before the 5th of each month. It was brought out in the investigation that the

The Guadeloupe touched at Point-à-Pitre yesterday, and there Castro was informally notified that he would not be allowed to land in Trinidad. He was furiously angry, and when the warning was repeated to him here to-day he made violent protest. To crown his rage the French steamship company refused to allow him to remain on the vessel until she reached Colon.

"The Mendel" Wardrobe Trunk

for Men or Women

The trunk of ordinary construction guarantees no fixed condition for its contents upon arrival at destination. Pack it carefully as you can, shaking and jolting will disarrange the contents-often to their serious detriment.

"The Mendel" Wardrobe trunk effectually disposes of uncertainty—open it at your journey's end and its contents are "right side up"-in their proper places.

"The Mendel" is constructed with ample, well arranged compartments and drawers - compact and accessible—a place for everything you wear.
